One of our top clients in the Charlotte area is looking to hire a full-time Blue Yonder Developer who has experience building out warehouse management systems. This person will be responsible for developing custom solutions for the tool and helping with the integration of the tool with other systems. This is a major project that has a lot of visibility within the organization. You will have an opportunity to grow your Blue Yonder skills while being a significant contributing member of a critical team. This team works on a hybrid schedule and will require people to be onsite in their office in Charlotte, NC at least 2-3 days a week. If you are not local, our client will offer relocation assistance and provide you 6 months to make the transition to Charlotte. This is an ideal opportunity for someone looking for a long-term position with a growing company. For this role please only apply if you are eligible to work in the United States. Key Responsibilities: Design, develop, and implement solutions within the Blue Yonder platform to support large-scale warehouse management systems. Work closely with stakeholders to gather requirements and translate business needs into technical specifications. Develop custom scripts and applications using MOCA, JavaScript, and SQL to enhance warehouse management operations. Perform system configurations, upgrades, and performance tuning to ensure high availability and optimal performance of the warehouse management system. Collaborate with cross-functional teams to integrate the Blue Yonder system with other enterprise applications and data sources. Provide technical support and training to users and internal teams on Blue Yonder functionalities and best practices. Conduct thorough testing and validation of new features and systems to ensure reliability and efficiency. Stay updated with the latest Blue Yonder features, technologies, and best practices to drive continuous improvement in system capabilities. Soft Skills: Strong communication skills to effectively collaborate with team members and stakeholders. Teamwork and the ability to work collaboratively in a fast-paced environment. Problem-solving skills to identify and address challenges in the development process. Adaptability to rapidly changing technologies and business needs. Strong analytical and critical thinking skills.
