Company: Selby Jennings

Location: New York

Category: other-general

One of the most reputable Hedge Funds in the world are looking for a Talented Intraday Equity Factor Modeller to join one of their highest profile business units. The Fund operates both quantitative and systematic strategies and is well known for having some of the most cutting-edge infrastructure in the market.

The team's remit spreads across the Fund's entire equities business, with their research agenda being set by the Fund's CEO. You will be working collaboratively to build complex equity factor models and the research infrastructure to allow these to be implemented across Front Office.

They are looking for candidates who have an impressive academic background, with the soft skills to match, as well as being a strong hands-on programmer in Python. You will need to have an extensive background in equity factor modelling as well as in-depth knowledge of investment research.

They have a reputation for offering some of the most competitive compensation on Wall Street and are happy to wait out non-competes to get the right person.
